

Capricorn

December 21 – January 19

Understand that Pluto's move into Capricorn in late November has triggered a cycle of change and growth, both in personal terms and elements of your life; and you'll adopt an uncharacteristically easy-going approach to December's events. This gives you time to consider what and who must go, to think about existing arrangements and to explore unfamiliar options. Aim to have your facts ready by the 27th, when the New Moon in your sign gives you a much-needed fresh perspective on this thrilling chapter of your life.

ARIES

March 20 – April 18

While potent changes in both your own circumstances and the world around you mean that ultimately you'll be making life-changing decisions, these can't be rushed. Instead of hurrying this process, savour exploring your options, both those you've ignored in the past and what comes your way – sometimes suddenly. Some may be familiar, others surprises. By late December, who you've met and what you've learned makes it easy to decide what must go and where your future, and perhaps your heart, will be focused in the new year.

TAURUS

April 19 – May 19

Your biggest challenge is recognising changes as an opportunity to break away from restrictive arrangements. This new emphasis on broadening your horizons involves both a shakeup in existing plans and new, and often seemingly uninteresting or impractical ideas or activities. Still, explore them all and you'll discover just how much you've changed. By December's close you'll be committing to new pursuits, study or even travel that you'd never have imagined possible and, even more surprisingly, will be thrilled about it.

GEMINI

May 20 – June 19

December divides neatly into two halves. The first is more about acknowledging what, and who, should no longer be part of your life. Some changes are disappointing but others free you. Allow neither past disappointments nor existing obstacles to keep you from aiming for exactly what you want. By the Gemini Full Moon on the 12th, you'll have mixed feelings of loss and excitement about the future that's only just emerging. Being frank stimulates informative discussions so that by early January, new plans are already in place.

CANCER

June 20 – July 21

Nobody is more supportive of others, from family and loved ones to friends and colleagues. While you don't expect compensation of any variety, during December – and the new year – your kindnesses are returned in wonderful and often unexpected ways. True, sometimes this is the result of sudden and seemingly unwelcome events. When asked what you want, don't be shy. Sometimes this will require that you reflect on your aims and desires and do some serious exploration. What you learn will inspire exciting plans.

LEO

July 22 – August 21

Keep in mind that what initially seems like unwelcome changes are in your best interests, and instead of battling them, you'll begin asking questions. The insights become clearer mid-December and will climax with revelations around the 22nd, when your ruler the Sun meets the uncompromisingly honest Pluto. This is timely, as shifts in circumstance or alterations in your work or other obligations lead to a serious review of your priorities or lifestyle. Discussing your situation results in stunning ideas and support, with amazing offers in early January.

VIRGO

August 22 – September 21

Recent thrilling, if unsettling, changes have triggered an extensive review of your life as it currently stands and in both your goals and expectations. Some of what's arisen is a dream come true, while other events shake up your thinking about the future. Discuss ideas with others, both those closest and those advisors who inspire you. By midmonth, you can view both situations and your role in them from a broader perspective. Instead of doubting stunning opportunities, exploring them reveals their part of this magical cycle.

LIBRA

September 22 – October 22

Opportunities are appearing in a peculiar form at the moment, and so won't necessarily be recognisable for what they are initially. Explore everything, therefore, including those that would involve a substantial change in your way or place of living or working. This is timely, as changes around you make it clear neither practical nor deeply cherished arrangements can remain as they were. Knowing that, investigate everything. This is your chance to pursue dreams – personal, romantic or professional – that you've always regarded as beyond your reach.

SCORPIO

October 23 – November 20

If you feel different – an unaccustomed freedom

– it's no surprise, since with your ruler Pluto making a rare move into a new part of your chart, there are dramatic changes taking place both within and around you. Making the best of these means doing two things differently. First, go with the flow. And second, be unaccustomedly open about both your feelings and your intentions. The resulting discussions aren't just revealing, they strengthen existing relationships and, as you explore your new life, lead to worthwhile encounters.

SAGITTARIUS

November 21 – December 20

Don't be surprised if you begin December with more questions than you have answers. In late November, Pluto ended a sixteen-year stay in your sign and the Sagittarius New Moon on the 27th, rearranges your perspective on your life, existing arrangements and future. So now you're eager to make changes. Your focus shifts to who and what's worth your while, which requires some serious investigation. Illuminating and promising as what comes to light is, avoid anything restrictive, as life's about exploration, not making commitments.

AQUARIUS

January 20 – February 18

As you have undoubtedly noticed during the past few months, opportunities are appearing in a rather peculiar form. Sudden changes in circumstance accent this, which means you could find yourself plunging into arrangements you have previously never considered. Sometimes the result is a delight, but occasionally it can be odd and unsettling. But as this is only the beginning of the cycle of review and change, take every experience for what you can learn, and you'll enjoy the process, knowing there's far more to come.

PISCES

February 19 – March 19

While your instincts are unquestionably telling you that things are going brilliantly, the disruption you're experiencing and the complaints of others could easily persuade you otherwise. The problem is that the before the cycle of growth promised for the new year begins, the old must go. In some cases, this is clearly no loss. But in others, you must let go of cherished dreams or elements of your life you rely on or are attached to. Focus on what's coming, and you won't mind at all.
